

how to wear your insignia

Currently there are two versions of how to wear insignia diagrams for each age level.

The first or “New” version identifies the placement of badges, pins and insignia as shown in the new Girl’s Guide to Girl Scouting. These diagrams show the placement guidelines for the new badges and awards, as well as some of the product that is current and going forward in the GSLE program. These diagrams would be used by first time Girl Scouts or by those who have moved up to a new grade level and are starting fresh, with a new Sash or Vest. Please click on the link below to view the “New” insignia diagrams.

The second version identifies the “Transitional” placement of badges, pins and insignia. These Diagrams identify the placement of a combination of new and retired badges, pins and insignia. These diagrams are useful for those who have already earned awards and will be adding additional new items to their already established sash or vest. We want to emphasize that the customer does not have to remove all the existing items from the garment to conform to the “New” placement guidelines if they already have existing applications. During this transition period, we want to accommodate the girls who have already earned badges, pins and insignia at their age level by offering options. With the Transitional Diagrams customers will understand how to add the new badge and award items along with existing placement, on their current Sash or Vest.
